WELCOME FROM THE ALUMNI OFFICE

Welcome to this, the first edition of Simmarian Online. We hope that you enjoy reading the latest news about life here at St Mary's as our new academic year begins.

As part of a University College-wide review, we have replaced our annual paper-based Alumni magazine, The Simmarian, with this online version which will be available to you via email and on our website each semester.

To help us stay in touch and to improve the range of services we currently offer you, we would appreciate you taking a few minutes to fill in our online response form if you have not already done so. Completing the form by 31st October 2010 will automatically enter you into a draw to win one of ten St Mary's goody packs. It will also register you to receive the new Simmarian Online.

Additionally, you might also like to join our Facebook page and check out our Alumni webpages. Over the coming months we'll be adding more photo albums featuring former students, staff and past events – if you have any photos from your time at St Mary's that you would like to share, please email them to us at alumni@smuc.ac.uk.

With very best wishes from all at Strawberry Hill.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Dr Arthur Naylor

This is my final message to alumni as Principal before I stand down on 30th September. My successor is Professor Philip Esler, whose profile appears elsewhere in this edition. I wish him every success and I know that he will receive a warm welcome from alumni wherever he meets you in the years ahead.

It has been a truly momentous summer at St Mary's. In July we awarded the first St Mary's undergraduate degrees in our new robes and colours at Westminster Cathedral. On 17th September we welcomed Pope Benedict XVI to our University College as part of his state visit to the United Kingdom, where he spent the morning in a packed programme that was seen worldwide on television. The end of September sees Strawberry Hill House (Walpole House) reopen after a £9 million restoration programme.

To students joining St Mary's at the end of September, aspects of the campus will look very different to how you may remember it, with the new Sports building taking shape at one end of the campus and the restored Strawberry Hill House at its other. What they will also find, I hope, is the same spirit and sense of identity as Simmarians that generations before have experienced.

With very best wishes and thanks for the kindness that I have been shown by Simmarians of all ages in my time as Principal.

Dr Arthur Naylor Principal

NEWS

New Principal Appointed

In June Bishop George Stack, Chair of Governors at St Mary's, announced the appointment of Professor Philip Esler as Principal of the University College in succession to Dr Arthur Naylor.

Bishop Stack said he was "...delighted to welcome Prof Esler and, together with my fellow Governors, I look forward to working with him at this important juncture in the life of St Mary's. He will bring undoubted academic and administrative expertise to this post as well as a deep commitment to the Catholic ethos of the University College."

Speaking of his appointment, Prof. Esler said, "I am both honoured and excited by my appointment. St Mary's University College is a distinctive institution within UK higher education. Dedicated as it is not only to teaching, research and knowledge transfer, the University College continues to be inspired by the Christian values which are at the heart of its Catholic foundation."

"As it moves to full university status, St Mary's will continue providing high quality academic and professional higher education. It will also build on its Catholic tradition to highlight the moral, spiritual and religious dimensions of teaching and research, and to produce interdisciplinary work on the big challenges like flourishing communities, world peace and the future of creation. I see St Mary's becoming a powerful moral voice in UK Higher Education."

Prof Esler joins the University College from the University of St Andrews, where he is currently Professor of Biblical Criticism. From 1st September 2005 to 31st August 2009 he held the position of Chief Executive of the UK

Professor Philip Esler

Arts and Humanities Research Council.

Prior to this he gained extensive experience in managing complex change at a senior level of a university from three years as the Vice-Principal for Research at St Andrews. He also held the post of Dean of the Faculty of Divinity and for four years he served on the Board of Scottish Enterprise Fife.

Earlier in his career he worked for ten years as a litigation solicitor and then barrister in Sydney, Australia. He was also a co-founder of a successful Christian monthly news magazine in Australia focusing on justice and peace issues.

Prof Esler's main research interest lies in the interpretation of biblical texts using social-scientific ideas and perspectives. He also publishes and teaches in the areas of the Bible and the visual arts, and early Christian identity in Rome. Earlier this year he was elected a Fellow of the Royal Society of Edinburgh.

Prof Esler will take up his position on 1st October 2010. Photos of the new Principal and all St Mary's previous Principals can be found on our website.

The Papal Visit

On 17th September the Holy Father, Pope Benedict XVI, visited the University College as part of the first Papal State Visit to the United Kingdom. He came to the campus to lead three events during the second day of his four-day state visit.

In the first event of the day, held in the University College Chapel, the Holy Father prayed with representatives of religious congregations, including those who have a charism for education and the history of education. He then blessed the Chapel and presented the University College with a mosaic.

He then went on to meet 3,500 school children and students in celebration of Catholic education at 'The Big Assembly' event, which took place on the University College Running Track.

Finally, he met with religious leaders of various denominations and faiths in the historic Waldegrave Drawing Room to discuss religion and belief in our society.

St Mary's was specially selected by the Vatican for its first-rate facilities and location, and for the outstanding contribution the University College has made to Catholic education during its 160 year history.

More information, including photos and videos, can be found on our website.

The Papal Visit also launched 'The Year of Catholic Education 2010/11'. The School of Education will be creating a diverse series of initiatives ranging from sport to leadership in Catholic Schools to celebrate this year. More information on these will appear on the School's website over the course of the year.

Clock Tower Renovation

We are pleased to announce that the two-stage renovation and modernisation of the clock mechanism in the University College's clock tower is now complete. We now have a working clock in the tower, thanks to the donation made by former Head of the School of Education, Prof Patricia Wade.

The work included replacement period dial hands, synchronous clock mechanism and automatic restart clock controller - making the clock fully automated and self-correcting in the event of any power failure.

Prof Wade said, "The clock looks splendid. I feel I have a part ownership in it, purely because I am so pleased that it is ticking again."

Where are you now? Let us know - fill in the online form www.smuc.ac.uk/alumni/now.htm or email alumni@smuc.ac.uk

The Papal Visit from the Chaplaincy's Perspective

A Papal State Visit or a Beatification are significant occasions for any Catholic community, but the two combined makes for something very special indeed. When we found out officially that Pope Benedict XVI was to visit St Mary's, we were all delighted and looking forward to the privilege of welcoming the Holy Father to the University College.

The Pope was to start his visit to St Mary's praying with representatives of religious congregations in the University College Chapel. Before the arrival of the Pope, we sang Morning Prayer in the Chapel and it was with great joy that the Holy Father walked down the centre aisle to greet all who were assembled. What an amazing moment.

Strawberry Hill House (formerly known colloquially as Walpole House), Horace Walpole's Gothic villa, will doubtless have a special place in the heart of every St Mary's alumnus as the source of many happy memories during their studies. It has been a very exciting time for the building over the last few years as the restoration has progressed from concept to reality, with the house reopening to the public in October.

The generous offer from the University College of a 120 year lease on the historic building and its four acres of gardens allowed the Strawberry Hill Trust to raise millions of pounds in funding from major institutions and hundreds of private donors, including dozens of readers of The Simmarian.

Donations were matched by further funding from the Heritage Lottery Fund, allowing a total of nearly £9 million to be allocated to the project. It is amazing to think that hundreds of people from around the world are justifiably able to say that they have done their part in preserving Strawberry Hill for future generations.

Expert craftsmen from the principal contractor, E Bowman & Sons of Lincolnshire, alongside architects Inskip + Jenkins have agonised over every aspect of the villa, ensuring that the project has become a restoration in the most accurate sense of the word, presenting the building and its decor as it was recorded to be in the late 18th century. Visitors will be enthralled by the shimmering whitewashed exterior, sumptuous silk wall coverings, and the glittering gilded vaults of the Gallery and Tribune.

Strawberry Hill will appear a very different house from that remembered by former students. To help visitors understand Walpole's extraordinary construction, an informative and witty audioguide has been produced, featuring a tour of the villa given by Horace himself, alongside his housekeeper Margaret. Additionally, every visitor will receive an abridged copy of Walpole's own Description - the guide to the house written and printed at Strawberry Hill.

Alumni are sure to recall visits to the house as part of their studies, and the Trust has employed a Learning Coordinator and a Community Development Coordinator to ensure that the property is available for formal and informal learning by children and adults of all abilities and interests. They are already working with the University College to develop study units for students joining courses in 2010.

We hope that many of you will take the opportunity to return to Strawberry Hill and view the house - perhaps while reminiscing about your own experiences as students! Tickets are available from the Trust's website and we urge you to make bookings in advance in order to avoid disappointment. Tickets for adults at £8.00 include a free audio guide and copy of the abridged description.

Property Manager, Strawberry Hill

SUMMER GRADUATION CEREMONIES HELD

Summer graduation ceremonies were held at Westminster Cathedral in July, with students graduating for the first time ever with degrees awarded by St Mary's. Consequently graduands at the ceremonies were dressed in the University College's new gowns, which feature the St Mary's colours of blue and white.

Principal Dr Naylor said, before the ceremonies, "This is a very special day in our 160-year history, as we award degrees in our own name at Westminster Cathedral using the powers we were granted by the Privy Council in 2006. Congratulations to all graduates."

Three different ceremonies were held on the day and were attended by students, guests and St Mary's staff. Students were awarded with BA, BSc, and Foundation degrees over the course of the day. Bishop George Stack, Chair of Governors, conferred the degrees and presided over the ceremonies.

During the interview Dr Cable MP answered questions about the speculation regarding his suitability for the role of Chancellor of the Exchequer and what would happen in the event of a hung parliament.

He also gave his views on increases in tuition fees, which he believes in the long-term should be phased out and replaced with a different system. He spoke about internship opportunities for graduates and also stressed the importance of young people voting. Dr Cable MP is now Secretary of State for Business, Innovation and Skills. Photos of the visit can be found on Facebook.
