Guests are seated in the nave, from the front of the Cathedral but are not issued a seat number. All available seats should be used to ensure that all guests can be seated.

As standard, presentation will be in alphabetical order within each degree or award (e.g. Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science etc). Please note due to extenuating circumstances there could be slight diversions from this order. An Usher will signal to Graduands when to move from their seats and regulate the flow of the procession. Graduands must bring their namecard with them, which will be passed to the Namecard Usher at the chancel steps. Each Graduand will mount the steps as his/her name is announced. They will stop and shake hands with the University Vice-Chancellor, whilst the Award Photographer captures this moment. Then, they return to their seats, as directed by the Ushers.

Postgraduate Research Graduands will not need to pass the namecard to the Namecard Usher. The Reader will have a document with the name and thesis title already and will read these before the PhD Graduand moves forward to the University Vice-Chancellor.
