Physics for Non-specialist Teachers

St Mary's University is proud to launch "Physics for Non-specialist Teachers", a CPD course that supports qualified teachers to develop their subject knowledge and teaching practice in the Physics GCSE curriculum.

This hybrid course blends face-to-face practical input with online subject knowledge development sessions and 1-1 mentoring to identify strategies to diagnose and treat common misconceptions teachers and school students encounter in the GCSE curriculum.

Sessions are led by an expert with over 20 years' teaching experience in physics and extensive experience supporting the next generation of physics teachers.
